

Ingunn Margrethe Limstrand

Head of section, Environmental data management

Norwegian Environment Agency

The Environmental data section is responsible for coordination and management of environmental data in Norway, both nationally and internationally. The work includes the development of data sets and map services, quality assurance, modelling, analyses, remote sensing and dissemination of geospatial data from various specialist systems in the Directorate and from external partners. Limstrand participates in the national committee for coordination of spatial data (NSDI), coordination of national statistics, she is a member of SAON board, involved in GEO and OECD – Working Party on Environmental Information among other things. She has been an alternate board member at the EEA since 2017.

Limstrand has a M.Sc in Geography from the Norwegian University of Science and Technology. Ingunn Limstrand has been Head of Environmental Data section since 2015. She has been working in the field of GIS, mapping and software development since 2001, both as a private consultant and in governmental administration. Prior to being employed at the Norwegian Environment Agency, she was a project manager in Norkart A/S, employed at the Norwegian Mapping Authority, at the KUN Centre for Equality and Diversity and as a University Lecture at department of Geography among other things.